A Problem Parking Lot Could Be Costing You Sales

Let's face it – you do everything you can to keep your customers returning. Part of that is making sure they can park at your store – regardless of the weather conditions.

We want to help you make it easy for your customers to come when it's convenient for them. We want to help you remove barriers to shopping with your store, and that's why we want to help you with any parking lot drainage problems you have.

Business is competitive, and you want every advantage. Be the store that customers can get into no matter what. This way, instead of your customers being forced to go to your competitors, their customers could be forced to come to you.

We Can Solve Your Problem Without Tearing Up Your Lot

Here's How It Works

Most problems are due to debris in drainage lines and are cleared on the first visit. Our vac-con trucks clear debris and allow water to flow through – just like in the picture above.

If there's a sinkhole, or a blockage the vac-con truck can't clear, we'll survey the problem with a camera inspection. For those larger problems, the system can be reopened and either relined, slip lined, or repaired to seal the damaged area. All without digging up your parking lot and disrupting your business. This means a lower-cost repair and no loss of business. In fact, Shenandoah Construction frequently solves these problems at lower cost than our competitors.
